

1. Make your images for your build in Photoshop. It's best if you save your images with a number in front of the file name so when you pull in your images into iMovie, they will go in order. (Example: 01_snowman.jpg)

2. Make sure Ken Burns Effect is NOT selected!

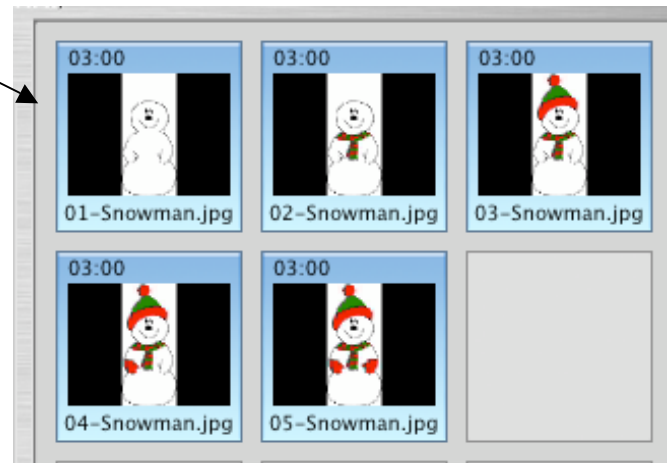

3. In iMovie, click on the Clips tab.

4. Go to File > Import and select your images for your build.

5. The files will import into the clips pane.

6. Drag your image one by one onto the timeline (this is where numbering them comes in handy so you know what order they go in).

7. Once the images are on the timeline, you can change the duration of them by double-clicking on the image (the ones on the timeline, not the ones in the Clips dock) and change the duration there.
